

Brightening Glance

One turns gold
in the smoke row
on row of the other

trees with dark,
hazy arms bonding hills beyond. Sky, soot tracings

on gray, then back through yellow
and smoke and black

at bricks piled
to a dim windowsill, me
 with my gold gaze.